

“Partnering for Compliance™” 2022 March 8th, 9th & 10th, 2022 (Virtual)

Sample Participant Comments

- “This was my second time attending the Annual Partnering for Compliance Seminar. As in the past, the conference was extremely informative and a notable learning experience. The presenters were experts in their disciplines and the content was effectively summarized to provide a comprehensive and valuable array of knowledge. The Q & A sessions provided an excellent opportunity for participants to gain assistance with unique circumstances and allowed for additional learning experiences for the entire group. This seminar is a must attend! It provides a rare opportunity to have so many authorities impart such a broad spectrum of information all in one place.”

“I can tell you that from my view point, a novice, that I was very appreciative of the “going over the basics”. My job is to provide the Logistics and Export teams the data they require to do their jobs. By attending the conference I am now able to understand the differences between EAR, ITAR and at least be aware of how complicated the process can be. It also help me be aware of the impacts that export can have on my programs.”

“Another year, another phenomenal Partnering for Compliance export conference. This was the 5th time I’ve attended this conference and it was the 5th time it delivered. Three full days of export control (and some import) topics covered by subject matter experts from government agencies, law firms, industry, etc., provides for an invaluable source of information. Not only do they present but they also participate in Q & A and further discussion, providing you with multiple opportunities to have questions answered relative to your day to day functions. The ability to also connect with fellow industry professionals and to hear their stories and experiences provide even further support for all. To Ailish & team- thank you again for organizing this and for everything you do for us export compliance professionals. See you next year!!”

"I have attended several Partnering for Compliance conferences since becoming a trade compliance professional years ago. I find the agenda, speakers, and material presented to be the most helpful out of all other compliance training that's available. The PFC conferences are perfect for trade compliance professionals at all knowledge levels, from beginner to expert. I highly recommend that anyone in this field attend a PFC conference every year."

*"I must let you know that I am so appreciative of this annual conference. I have been attending for many years now and I walk away with new knowledge EVERY single time.
By far, this conference gives you the most access to government regulators and agencies. We are always able to obtain specific answers to our companies specific issues.
Each year I bring at least one of my team members. Our company is able to immediately see the growth in our new employees after attending this conference.
Again, I am very appreciative of the work and effort that is put into making this a huge success every year."*

“This conference is very valuable for all kinds and sizes of businesses because on top of learning lots of important government rules and regulations, it allows participants, while they listen to the presentations, to self-reflect and analyze their processes “live”.

The speaker’s presentations are extremely well prepared and targeted to all but each participant can focus on what’s most important and valuable to them in regards to their specifics.

This conference also serves as a reminder for all of us that we need to train our employees on export rules on a yearly basis.

And the organizers, Ailish primarily, manage to actually make the conference very enjoyable with keeping everyone’s attention with little stories and jokes between the presentations!”

“This year our conference was set-up via WebEx, and it was daunting for me to begin with, technologically, due to my never having done such a meeting and needing to use my laptop (which I had not used on-line for nearly a year ☺)! After getting it updated and set-up it turned out to be the simplest thing to join the meeting and I gotta say I actually paid attention and enjoyed this at least as much as though I were in-person!

I so enjoyed the hosts, Alannah and Ailish, and all the presenters were very well-versed in their fields, and I especially enjoyed the ability to ask questions of these experts!

I will admit that I would rather do it old-school, in-person, but, as an alternative, the WebEx was very effective!”

“The Partnering for Compliance conference is the most thorough and comprehensive event for Industry to fully engage in all aspects of exporting. Government speakers are a wealth of knowledge and understanding of Industry concerns and anxieties. First time attendees receive a total overview of everything they should know. Repeat attendees receive that back to basic reminders they need to keep their Trade Compliance programs strong and functional. It is remarkable to have this level of approachable access to the Government workers that process Industry’s applications and their advice for how to properly submit is priceless. Conference speaker Audra Collins is one of the most compelling speakers I have ever had the privilege of listening to. This event is time well spent for every company.”

You assemble a top-notch group of speakers and we especially find the question and answer sessions very educational!

The agenda and materials are well organized and informative.

Looking forward to next year’s conference and your smiling faces!”

“I attended the Partnering for Compliance 2022 Virtual Conference and found it to be highly useful. As the Export Control Specialist for the Program Executive Office Missiles and Space (PEO MS) Assistant to the PEO – International (APEO-I), I am always looking for more training opportunities in ITAR and Export Compliance. I found this seminar to have several invaluable areas of instruction. The material presented by Mr. Davis the Deputy Director, Directorate of Defense Trade Controls-Licensing, was particularly of interest to me and the chance to ask questions directly to a senior-level official at DDTC was an incredible opportunity. I also greatly enjoyed the jovial atmosphere created by Ms. NicPhaidin who worked to make the conference entertaining and less “impersonal”, which was quite a feat given that it was a virtual event! Kudos to the Partnering for Compliance Organization for a job well-done.”
